Pro Mix®

"Ingredient Solutions that Improve your Bottom Line"

Pro Mix® Specialty Ingredients

All American Food's offers its Pro Mix® product line of specialty dairy and non-dairy ingredients for a variety of applications. In most applications, traditional dairy powders such as nonfat milk, buttermilk and whole milk are naturally over-engineered for the applications in which they are being used. Pro Mix® incorporates only the nutrients essential to your application so you can save money, without sacrificing quality. Pro Mix® specialty products are used in a wide range of applications including but not limited to ice cream and frozen desserts, bakery, processed meats, salad dressings, beverages, soups and sauces, and confectionery applications. You too can discover the Pro Mix® advantage.

Pro Mix® Customized Processing

All American Foods also offers customized processing and packaging of food and nutritional products. Our capabilities include the processing of dried, co-dried or dry blended products, grinding, mixing and sifting and liquid plating of oils, fats and colors, along with encapsulation and agglomeration capabilities. Precise controls along with a fully implemented HACCP program ensure the production of consistent and high quality products. With four modern FPA-Safe audited facilities, centrally located in the US, All American Foods is ready to help with your processing needs.
